

Your BlackBerry device uses a Subscriber Identity Module (SIM) card that contains your personal information and also holds phone book entries. A SIM card phone book is separate from your BlackBerry Address Book. Addresses stored in your SIM card phone book do not appear in your BlackBerry Address Book even though you open it from the Address Book for your device.

To use this module, you must have software version 4.0.2.37.

Addresses stored in your SIM card phone book do not appear in your BlackBerry Address Book even though you open it from your device's Address Book.

The SIM card phone book allows you to:

- Move contacts stored in your SIM card phone book from one Nextel device to another.
- Upload contacts from your SIM card phone book to your BlackBerry device one by one or in bulk.
- Download contacts from your BlackBerry device to your SIM card phone book one by one.
- Create, view, edit, or delete SIM card contacts.

Note: The SIM card phone book functionality will only work with devices that use a 32K SIM card. This includes the BlackBerry 7510/7520 and all Motorola - digit series phones (example: i90, i95, i35 etc.). If you attempt to transfer contacts using a non-32K SIM card device you will receive the following message “No SIM PhBk”
